LONDON July 25. The following is a copy of a letter which Mr. Forbes, consul of the United States of America in Hamburgh sent to the Captains of its nation .-

Hamburgh July.

" The blockade of the Elbe by the English has been officially announced to the government of thi City. In so serious a crisis as the present it is of consequence to the interest of your owners most strictly to observe, not only the laws as they have been acknowledged by the respective nations, but also those laws as they have been laid down by the principal Maritime Powers. I therefore advise you not to take any goods on board, to procure the best certificates, that what you have already loaded has been shipped and loaded before the bloc kade of the Elbe was known, and to hasten your departure as much as possible.

" I am &c. JOHN M. FORBES" A letter from the Banks of the Mein, states, that the first Consul will assume the tittle of Commander in Chief of the Army of England, which is to consist of 200,000 men. The head quarters are to be established pro tempore at Compeigne. This army is to form an immense cordon from the mouth of the Elbe to Rochelle and Rochefort, and is to be sudivided into four separate armies, the first of which is to extend from the mouth of the Elbe to Flushing, and to comprehend the troop. dispersed in the Electorate of Hanover and the Batavian Republic; the second is to be formed by the troops in Belgium, and to extend from Flushing to Dunkirk; the third is to extend from Durkirk to Cherbourg, and to comprise the troops cantoned in the departments of the north, the Pays de Calais, La Somme, and Basse Loire; and the south is to extend from Cherbourg to Brest and Rochefort and to comprehend all the troops distributed in the Departments of the West.

THE KING OF FRANCE.

The following is a translation of a printed paper delivered at his Levee by Monsieur, entitled, " Publication made by Monseur, Brother to the king of France."

Monsieur, the brother to the king of France, has looked upon it as his duty no longer to observe silence on an important fact too vaguely understood. The different accounts which have been circulated of it, the false reports which an usurping Government has spread in France, imperiously demand that the French should be accurately informed on the true facts.

Monsieur, in the present conjuncture, to publish the details, which particular circumstances, how. ever interesting, do not suffer him to enlarge upon more fully than as follow:

a person fully authorised, waited on the king of France, at Warsaw, and verbally made to his Majesty, in the plainest, but, at the same time, the most pressing and, as he thought, the most persuasive terms, the proposal of renouncing the Throne of France, and of requiring the same renunciation on the part of all the members of the House of Bourbon. This person added, that in return for such a sacrifice. Bonaparte would himself secure the King sufficient indemnities, and even a splendid support. His Majesty strongly impressed with that sentiment, which misfortune never destroys in great souls, and which attaches him as strongly to his rights as to the happiness of France, instantly made the following answer, and remitted it in writing on the 28 h, to the person who had been dispatched to him.

THE KING'S ANSWER. "I do not confound Mr. Bonaparte with those who have proceeded him; I esteem his valour his military talents; I am pleased with several of his acts of administration, for the good done to my people will ever he dear to me; but he de. ceives himself if he thinks he can induce me to transfer my rights; so far from that, he will himselfstrengthen them, if they could be questioned, by the course he at present pursues.

" I know not the designs of Providence with respect to me and my race. But I known the obligations which are imposed upon me by the rank in which it was its will that I should be born.

" As a christian I shall, to my last moment, fulfil those obligations: as a descendant of St. Louis, I shall, like him respect myself even in chains; as a successor of Francis I. I shall be desirous of saying with him-Nous awons tout perdu, fori l'honneur-All is loft, except our bo-

At the bottom is written;

" With the permission of the king, my uncle, I, with all my heart and soul, adhere to this act (Signed) "LOUIS ANTOINE."

On the 2d of March, the king wrote to Mon figur an account of all that had paffed, and defired him to communicate it to the Princes of the Blood, who were then in England : undertaking himself to make the following communication to fuch as were

On the 23d of April, Monfieur called a meeting of the princes, who with equal zeal and unanimity figned the following inftrument of approbation of the king's answer of the 28th of February. ACT OF APPROBATION OF THE PRINCES.

" We, the underlighed Princes, the brother, nephew, and cousins of his Majesty Louis XVIII King of France and Navarre.

" Do DECREE,

"That after his example we shall never suffer ourselves to be wanting in the slightest degree, in our duty to ourselves, our ancestors, or

our posterity.

"We further declare, that being positively certain that the geater majority of the people of France entertain in their hearts the fame fentiments which animate us, it is in the name of our loyal countrymen, and in our own, that we renew, before God, on our fwords, and in the hands ou, king, to live and die, true to honor, and to our lawful fovereign.

" Wanstead House April 23d, 1803. ACT OF ACCESSION OF THE DUKE OF ENGHEIM. " Sir, - The letter of the 2d of March, with which your Majefiy has deigned to hon it me, h s come punctual to hand. Your Majetty too well knows the blood which flows in my veins, to have for a moment doubted in what fenfe I thould make reply the required. I am a Frenchman --Sire, a Frenchman, faithful to his God, to his king, and to the vows of honor. Many others may one day, perhaps envy me this three fold advantage. Let your Majelty then deign to permit me to add my fignature to that of the Dake of Angouleme, as I, like him, adhere, with all my heart and foul, to the contents of the note of my King. In the unalterable fentiments, I am not been received by Monfieur; but there is no Monfieur has fince learned, that on the 19th of March, the same envoy, in pursuance of orderd which he had received, again waited on the King, to request a change, not in the subflance but in and it is not improbable but that the missionary This is the consideration which has determined | the form of his Majesty's answer. It seemed to of France have, of late, been very industrious in be apprehended that it might irritate the Usurper | fanning the flame of rebellion, which, unhapply, to fuch a degree as to provoke him to use his influence to aggravate the afflictions of the king .-His Majesty answered, that " He should make On the 26th of February in the present year, no alteration in his answer, which was as moderate as possible, and that Bonaparte would be wrong to complain of it, fince if his Majesty had styled him Rebei and Usurper, he would have faid no more than the truth." The danger of fuch a reply were then pointed out to to the king. "What," replied the king, " is malice to require that I shall be driven from my present place of retreat? I shall pity the sovereign who shall jest and insulted slave of an enemy, whose boast feel himself obliged to take such a part, and shall ed protection is the most cruel oppression, whose be gone." Oh no! But might there not be reafon to fear, leaft Bonaparte should require certain powers to withhold from the Count de Lille the affistance which he nows receives from them. " I fear not poverty : if necessary, I shall eat brown bread with my family and faithful follow. ers. Be not deceived; I shall never be reduced to that: I have another powerful resource which I do not think it my duty to use, while I have my present powerful friends, I have but to make my condition known in France, and to hold out my hand, not to the government of the Usurper; no, never; but to my faithful subjects; and, believe me, I shall soon he richer than I am."

The confequence was, that the messenger was obliged to take back the King's answer, which had been returned to his Majesty, under, an expec tation that he would have made some alterations

Faithful fubjects, spirits truly French, recognise at length a King fo worthy to reign over you, whom the government of an Ulurper seperates from his people. July 28.

It is with the deepest concern we have to submit to the public details of acts as barbarous and atrocious as most of those which were perpetrated du. ring the late infurrection in Ireland. Dilparches were yesterday received by Government from the Lord Lieutenant, stating the revival of the spirit of not been able to trace it to any authentic source, rebellion in Dublin, marked with circumstances and we sincerely trust that the horrible excesses, no less tragical than they were expected. In the beginning of last week it was observed, that ma. ny strangers arrived in Dublin from the country. but no apprehension arose, nor was any notice taken. Suddenly on Saturday evening, however about So'clock, a large mob affembled in Thomas street, in the liberties, armed with pikes and fire arms, stopped the carriage of Lord Kilwarden, who was then returning from his country feat, accompanied by his nephew, the Rev. Richard Wolfe, dragged his lordship and his nephew out, and affinated them in the street, by stabbing them with pikes. The confusion that ensued is more easily to be conceived than described. Genetal consternation and terror immediately pervaded the whole of the city, the drums beat to arms, the military were called out; but in the mean time the perpetrators of the horid deed disappeared, and every effort to apprehend them, we are forry fame night the mail guard was attacked between manding a pass word from every passengers in been killed. On the fame evening a piffol to fired at Mr. Clarke, the foreman of the Gn jury of Dublin, by which he received a fer wound. He had, the day before carried an drefs to the Lord Lieutenant, expressive of the termination of the city of Dublin to Support his majesty in the contest in which we are engaged Col. Browne of the 2 rft foot, and several vate foldiers, are faid to have been killed h mob. Every measure execulated to enfore the fale ty of the city was that night carried into effect but fuch were the daing spirit of the insurgen or rather the affiffine that on Sunday a Magultan of the County of Dub'in, walking with a gentle man on Ormand Quay, was fired at, and both !. and the gentleman were wounded.

The circumstances of these strocious acts, par ticinarly the assassination of Lord Kilwarden, are no less extraordinary and unaccountable, the horrid and deplorable. His Lordship was certain ly obnexious to the rebels and must have had enemies amongst the disaffected. He was no however, a leading political character: then who should he have been singled out as the first in tim? Could private malice have been the ma tive? and how could the sacrifice of such a man have tended in a particular manner to promos the views of the discontented? It is the oping of some that the object of this enormity was, an act of eclat, to hold out to France a son pledge that the people of Ireland were rine i insurrection, and ready to welcome the aid of our enemies. Any other public man of consequences it is thought, who might have fallen in the war would have suffered the face of Lord Kilvar. By the proclamation which has been published on this melancholy subject, it is evident that the Irish Government view those sanguinary outrage as the commencement of a rebellious consumary against the State : and that part of the United Kingdom is, in consequence, to be placed immediately under martial law. Orders have already been given to the several Generals of districts to employ the troops un er their command in the most speedy and effectual manner for the suppres. ss on of all rebellious insurrections and treasons. ble practices, to disarm all rebels, and sented arms and ammunition that may be found in the custody of persons not duly authorised by law to keep them. This proceeding is a like, wise and necessary, and will we trust, be the means of effectually frustrating the designs of the disaffed. ed. The principles by which these delaid wretches are now actuated, it is somewhat diff. cult to discover. The lower orders of the lish it is true, are as ignonant as they are distressed; was not extinguished with the former subjugation of the insurgents. But what any description of Irishmen can promise themselves from a connexi. on with France at the present moment, we are totally at a loss to conjecture, upon any principle of reason, policy, or justice. In no point of view whatever can Ireland hope for any improvement from such a connexion which on the contrary, would deprive it of all the advantages of rational freedom, and in return for the inevitable enjoy. ments of the British Constitution, render it the object is universal devastation and plunder, and whose ambition is only to be satiated with the overthrow of every system that does not accord with his own selfish and tyrannical propensities. On Monday morning, when Mr. Marryan, the Messenger who brought the dispatches yesterday, set off all was as tranquil'as could be expected, and the military were in complete possession of every part of the town. Military guards were placed on all the bridges, and all the avenues leading from the town. A person could not more our without in litary inspection and protect tion. On Sunday afternoon there was reason to apprehend the rebels would make another effort; but the miliary were all on the alert, and the yeomanry turned out with so much spirit, and in such numbers, that it is supposed the rebels saw any attempt would be vain. There is doubt, however, that Dublin is full of rebels, and we may look for very unpleasant intelligence both from that city and the pravinces. The ile surrection cannot be considered as concluded; but the first burst if it has been so completey checked, that we are in hopes nothing very ser rious will follow.

A report was last night and this morning is circulation, that the whole county of Kildare was in a state of open rebellion, and the town of Kildare in the possession of the rebeis. We have of which the metropolis was the scene, did not extend to any part of Ireland.

Other accounts state, that a desperate engage ment took place between the insurgents in Thomas street, and the military, in which much blood was spilt. The former, it is said, fought with fire arms and pikes, and fired from windows.

As this paper was on the point of going press, we were favoured with the following extract of a letter, containing several interesting particular lars, on the correctness of which we have teason to place every reliance.

Liverpool, July 27 I am sorry to be the bearer of most painful news from Dublin, from which place I am but just arrived. That city has experienced another dreadful rebellion. NEW YORK September 17.

The Eclipse, capt. Philips, of Phladelphia was captured at one of the native ports in india, in the month of February, by the British government ship the Cartier, which was fitted out at Bencoolen for the purpose. This ship also had seized the Harmony of Philadelphia, under pretence of an infringement of the British treaty. The crews of both ships were taken out, and the vessels car ned down to the British ports. The Eclipse had taken on board an English gentleman as passenger from Bencoolen, who had among his baggage 4 chests Opium-and the British pretended she had violated the treaty in disposing of this article among the natives and with a view of making the seizure the Cartier, had pursued her throughout the whole extent of the coast of Sumatra, > HEALTH-OFFICE. SEPTEMBER 17.

The Committee of Health report 3 new cases and 5 deaths of the prevailing fever, at 10 o'clock this day.

Sunday, September 18. 6 new cases-3 deaths. Monday, September 19. 5 new cases-1 death.

The Committee of Health acknowledge with gratitude the receipt of Ten Bushels of Indian Meal, as a donation for the use of the poor.

The Committee of Health are constrained to state it as their sense, that the inhabitants who sleep from their houses, ought to deposit their FIRE BUCKETS, in the several Engine Houses nearest to their neighbourhood, under the care of those who have the keys of the Engine Houses, or at the Court House, under the care of the Captain of the Watch. They do most earnestly call on their fellow citizens to endeavour, as speedily as possible, to comply with this important request.

> By Order of the Board. S. SNOWDEN, Sec'ry.

Our subscribers will perceive, this days paper to be on an enlarged scale. They must also have observed, that, for some time past, the Alexandria Advertiser has presented them with a variety of original communications—the best and earliest foreign news which could be obtained, and such occasional selections as might suit the taste of every reader. Contemplating this enlargement, we thus endeavoured to claim a place, in the esteem of the public; and our exertions have, in some degree, been crowned with success-for, they have been the means of a considerable increase of subscribers

To support our constitution, as laid down by Washington, and those great men whose names are enrolled with his, on asserting our independence, and afterwards on our attaining a rank amongst nations, has been the principles upon which we have acted; and we have held it a duty to oppose every attempt at the smallest innovation on those rights.

The present increased size of the Alexandria Advertiser, and the consequent additional expence, attending its publication in its present form; added to our determination to use every exertion to render it worthy of patronage, obliges us to call for the small addition of ONE DOLLAR per annum, from each subscriber, and which will still leave its price less than any daily paper published within the United States of America.

The Louisville paper of the 25th nlt. contains the following information:-" An expedition is expected to leave this place shortly under the direction of Captain William Clark and Mr. Lewis, (private fecretary to the President) to proceed through the immense wilderness of Louisiana to the Western or Pacific Ocean. The particular objects of this undertaking are at present matters of conjecture only; but we have good reason to believe that our government intends to encourage fettlements and establish sea ports on the coast of the Pacific Ocean, which would not only facilitate our Whaling and Sealing voyages, but enable our enterprising merchants to carry on a more direct and rapid trade with China and the East Indies."

FROM CADIZ .- Accounts from Cadiz to the 23d of July, states, that the Spaniards were augmenting their naval and military forces with great spirit, that the impressments were carried on day and night, and extended to all descriptions of persons, except to freeholders: the accounts from this place also advise, that the French had taken possession of all the Italian Ports and confiscated every species of British property (Boston Gaz.)

A fleet of eighteen fail of English vessels under convoy of the Blanch frigate, having on board the 25th regiment, arrived at Barbadoes on the 28th August. On the 29th an expedition left there for Demerara, under the command of Lieutenant General Grinfield and Commodore Sir Samuel Hood.

ON GOOD HUMOUR.

Good humour may be defined, a habit of being pleased, a constant and perennial softness of manners, easiness of approach, and suavity of disposition; like that which every one perceives in himself, when the first transports of new felicity have tion by a slow succession of soft impulses.

Surely nothing can be more unreasonable than | The son being warmly attached to the to lose the will to please when we are conscious of the power, or show more cruelty than to choose any kind of influence before that of kindness and good humour. He that regards the welfare of others, should make his virtue approachable, that it may be loved and copied; and he that considers the wants which every man feels, or will feel, of external existence, must rather wish to be surrounded by those who love him, than by those that admire his excellencies or solicit his fayours; for the admiration ceases with novelty, and interest gains its ends and retires. A man whose great qualities want of ornament or superficial attractioss, is like a naked mountain with mines of gold, which will be frequented only till the treasure is Nothing can more show the value of good humour, than that it recommends those who are des. titute of all other excellencies, and procures regard to the trifling, friendship to the worthless, and affection to the duil.

Garety is, to good homour, as animal perfumes to a vegetable fragrance. The one evaporates weak spirits, the other recreates and revives them. Gaiety seldom fails to give some pain; the hearers either strain their faculties, to accompany its towerings, or are left behind in envy and despair. Good humour boasts no faculties which every one does not believe in his own power, and pleases principally by not offending.

THE MORALIST.

Read in the face of Heaven, and in the Stars, The God impress'd in glowing characters. DRYDEN.

MAN was not formed by the divine architect, for a creature of low & mean condition. He was given reason, and thrown upon this vicious world as into a vast and spacious amphitheatre, to view and examine all around him. He became, at once, an actor in the scene and a candidate for fame and immortality. In his soul was implented a strong and invincible passion, for all that is great and divine, with a contempt for meanness, and an abhorrence of wickedness. Hence it would seem, that " the great globe itself and all which it inherits," is not capacious enough for the extensive contemplations of the human mind; Wid that our thoughts often soar above the Heavens, and penetrate beyond those boundaries which ter. minate the universe.

Disclaining as it were, to be limited by the narrow powers of our senses, we open the field to our imagination; and, as if the earth we tread was too small, we contemplate worlds that revolve at immense distances. We conceive that we can distinguish behind and beyond all these, others not less in magnitude but seeming so because at a greater dissance. This genious we receive from Heaven, extensive as the infinite space which it contemplates, and in which it is, as it were at length mingled, swallowed up and lost. It knows no more bounds than that infinity of space it would examine, or than the power itself which it supposes to have furnished that infinity with worlds innumerable.

.. Lo the poor Indian, aubose untutored mind, Sees God in every cloud, or hears him in the POPE.

Thus human reason acts when right directed; and thus a sovereign pride grows on confessed humility, as knowledge upon conscious ignorance. He who fancies himself great, who, seeing some things less, supposes himself superior to all, glories in what is little more than nothing. When we have the modesty to know ourselves, we at once distinguish the soul to be something superior, and find its separate nature by exerting its independent faculties. In contemplating these subjects, we feel a gratitude to God, we feel a power of divinity within us; we discover that to entertain a sense of these, his operations, is to enjoy, tho' at an unmeasurable distance, something of his own nature, some emanation from himself, and there.

fore too great for mortality. He who has the power to think, feels within himself conviction of the true dignity, and real superiority in his nature above that of other creatures. He now believes that he has proof of the souls immortality, while he contemplates heaven and earth, the sea and air, and those innumerable worlds formed like this, and most likely, peopled like it; and he glows with pride, that he is the favoured creature of that great power who made him. He will see the extent of his creator so far as it regards himself in the disposition of things about him; and conforming his actions with love and with obedience to that design, he will exert

This was the design for which God conferred this dignity and bestowed those powers upon the human mind. They should only be applied to virtuous ends, and thus cannot fail giving relief to the disordered, and happiness to all. This is the consequence of employing and exerting them; and this being the consequence, it is virtue so to employ them; and with the ignominy, there is a tincture of a crime, in suffering them to be unex.

ANECDOTE.

The following Anecdote has not probably e. scaped the recollection of some, who can vouch for its being substantially correct :

MANY years ago, a gentleman of considera. ble fortune, who resided in Virginia, and who had two children, a daughter and a son, became much incensed against his daughter, in consequence of her being about to marry a person he disapproved of; and in order to evince his disapsubsided, and his thoughts are only kept in mo- probation of the connection, he disinterited her, and bequeathed the whole of his estate to his son. I who was about to marry his sister, and be that the prejudices of his father (whom designate by the name of James Bond) aros improper motives, adopted the following lar method in order to remove from his mind what he believed to be an unwarrantable straint over the freedom of marriage-

The son, dressed in women's apparel, and wrat ping himself in a sheet, obtained entrance about andnight into his father's chamber, and creeping along the floor, raised himself at the bedside James Bond, and there personating his mother who had been dead for several years, and in imita tion of her voice, called out, " James Bond James Bond! James Bond!" Bond, observing the ghost, lay trembling in his bed, withou making a reply. The ghost then said " Yo have a daughter that I charged you, when left this world, to be particularly attentive to You have disinherited her, because she claim the liberty of marriage: You have thereby I humanly committed a manifest violation of the laws of nature, by arresting a connection forced by the boly scriptures and sanctioned divine authority." . Bond remained motionles unable to utter a word. The ghost then c tinued " I am your wife ; she is my daughter I am come from the world of spirits to charge you, in the most sacred and solemn manners to give her the strongest proofs of your venes ration and love, that before to morrow mig you reinstate her in your confidence, and post sees her with a due propoption of your estate; otherwise I will again visit you; you will be over whelmed with grief; your diffi ulties will da augment, and your happiness here and hereafte gone, gone forever."

The ghost then sunk down, and immediatel disappeared. James Bond, waited in silence wi the utmost impattience and uneasiness, for the dawn of day, when he arose, and after several hours solemn meditation on the awful interview the preceding night, he sent for his daughter, immediately gave her a very ample estate, an after strongly recommending to her to may the person for whom he believed she had muc tender affection, he withdrew, conscientious believing, that if he had not done so the con quences would have been dreadful. His daugh was soon after married, and Mr. Bond discove every disposition to place their pecuniary concerns on a sure and solid foundation.

Brom LUTHER MARTIN, Efq. Attorney-General of the State of Maryland.

I comply with your request in stating my opinion of Hamilton's Elixit. It has been used in my family for two or three years past, with uniform success, whenever colds, coughs, or fimilar complaints have rendered medicine. necessary. I have myself found it an excellen; and agreeable remedy for a very painful and troublesome affection of the breast, accompanied with foreness and ich obstructed and difficult breathing.

On thefe accounts I do not hefitate to recommend Hailton's Elixir, as a valuable medicine, and deferving public attention.

LUTHER MARTIN. Mr. Abijah Henly, Bridge-Street, Baltimore, was curd by one bottle of Hamilton's elixir of a very complicated liforder, occasioned by a severe cold caught several months ago. He breathed with the greatest difficulty, and was often thrown into weakening fweats when he attempted to walk any distance, and his voice would epently fail in fuch a degree that the could only atempt to whisper, he has been upwards of fix weeks without a return of his complaints, and delires to give his public testimony in favour of this invaluable medi-

HAMILTON'S ESSENCE and EXTRACT of MUSTARD,

A fafe and effectual remedy for gout, rheumatism, palfey, sprains, bruises, pains in the face and neck, exc. And has performed more cures in the above complaints than all the other medicines ever before made public. From Dr. Weatherburn, Wythe county, Virginia.

I purchased at your shop the preparations you call Hamilton's Essence, or Extract of Mustard, which I believe has perfectly removed a chronic rheumatism (of that kind named sciatica, or of the hip joint) under which I had laboured for a long time, and which had bassled every article in the Materia Medica, and every mode of treatment regived into practice for the cure of this obstinate diferie. If you think this letter useful you are at liberty to make it public.

Ichn Hoover, rope-maker, South Second Street, between Mary and Christian-Streets, Philadelphia, voluntarily mileth cath as follows, namely, that his wife, Mary Harver, was so severely afflicted with a violent theunratifit, very dangeroully fituated, the confequence of a fevere cold after lying in, as to be confined to her hed for feveral weeks, and was at length reduced to the melanchety apprehension of remaining a crapple for life, notwithstanding the nost respectable medical advice was followed, and every probable remeny attempted: when leeing feveral cafes of cures performed by Hamitton's Effence and Extract of Mustard, they were procured from Mr. Birch, No. 17, South second-Street. The first application enabled her to walk across the room, and the use of one bottle restored her to her usual face of he l.h and firength. Sworn and fuhferited before Ebnezerger Foron, Efq. one of the justices of the peace for Philadelphia County. HAMILTON'S WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES. Which have within four years pull cured upwards of one hundred and twenty thousand perfons of both fexes, of every age, and in every fituation, of various dangerous complaints arif-ing from worms, and form obstructions or foul- nels in the Romach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever of fimilar title, so commonly complained of as operating with violence: on the contrary, particular a excellence of this remedy is its being fuited to every age and conflictution; contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent, and is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady, or the tenderest infant of a week old, should no worms exist in the body; but will, without pain or griping, cleanfe the flomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal diforders, They are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross huare and eruptions; feverifh and bilious complaints, and are the fafest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occifion.

Description of Worms, and the Symptoms by which they are known. Worms which infest the human body, are chiefly of four kinds, viz. the Teres or large round worm, the Afcaidres, or imall maw worm, the Cucurbitina, or thort, flat, white worm, and lastly, the Tania, or tape worm, so called from its resemblance to tape; this is often many yards long, and is sult of joints—it is most hurtful, and most difficult to cure.

Among the symptoms attending worms, are disagreeable breath, especially in the morning—Bad and corrupted gums—Itching in the nose and about the feat—Convultions and epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech—starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep—Irregular appetite. Emetimes loathing sood, and sometimes voracious—Porgi g, with slimy and settle stools—Vomiting—Large and hard belly—Pains and sickness at the stomach—Pains in the head and thighs, with lowacts of sprits—Slow sever, with small and irregular puls—A dry cough—Excessive thirst—Sometimes pale and such althy countenance, and sometimes the sace bloated and slushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms, should have immediate recourse to HAMILTON's WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES, which have WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints fimilar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm feason, will effectually prevent the vomiting and purging of children, a dreaded disorder which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our cities. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this satal complaint. Paticular and plain instructions are given for every part of the ne-ceffary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

TAPE WORM.

Mr. SAMUEL FULLER, Inn-keeper, on the Harford road, ten miles from Baltimore, began about 20 months ago to be grievously afficted with a tape worn. which increased fast in fize and strength, so as to excite the most horrid fensations by its writing motions and intolerable pains, refembling the gnawing and traring of his bowels, which deprived him of his necessary sleep, and canfed such dreadful apprehensions as cannot be con-ceived but by one in a similar situation—his appetite wasted rapidly, and with that his strength, so that he was unable to attend to any business—when he heard of some excellent cures performed by Hamilton's worm-lozenges, he took a large dose, which brought away about FOUR YARDS of the worm (now in the polfession of Lee & Co.) -but a renewal of his pains soon convinced him that this monftrous reptile had recovered its first vigour-Application was made to Lee & Co. for more of their medicine, with their advice-from which refulted the total expulsion of his formidable enemy, in feveral pieces, which he supposed to be SIX or EIGHT YARDS more. A few months have fince elapfed, as Mr. Fuller is now in perfect health. The above fac are well known to a numerous circle of his neighbours, and himself will gratify any who may wish to make further inquiries on the subject. Although Hamilton's worm lozenges produce such powerful effects, when necessary, yet they are perfectly innocent and mild in their operaien on the human body, even taken in large dofes, as Mr. Fuller will teftify-their particular mildnefe is abun dantly evident in innumerable cures of infants.

Communicated by Dr. John Spangler, Yorktown, Penufylvania. Letter from the reverend Mr. JOHN MOLTHER minister of the Moravian church, in York-town. lork, January 4th, 1802.

Deer Sir. Dr. Hamilton's lozenges have been recommended to me as a very adequate means for the cure of children atflicted with worms, I procured a box for the use of my family, to try, whether by means of this medicine, I might be enabled to gain a point, which, to accomplish, different other means had proved abortive. My eldelt boy had a very fickly appearance, was very reftlefs at nigh grew leaner from time to time; in fhort, he feemed to be in a precarious flate of health, which would yield to none of the medicines administered, until I gave him two doses of lozenges agreeably to the directions which carried off a tabitance to all appearance a meremucus but upon close inspection quit repeled with very small living animals. Not one of that fort of worms which usualty afflict children came from him. Since that period he grew remarkably better in health, and though lean, has got a fresh and lively complexion. Upon different occasi-ons I have used this medicine as a purging substitute, and found it to answer exceedingly well, without bringing on belig-ache, or any of those disagreeable sensations, so of-ten occasioned by purging medicines. Upon the which I judge this medicine to be, believes its main object, one of he most falutary means for restoring lest appetite, and promoting a proper state of digestion, by carrying off that bilious substance, which engenders so much indisposition both among children and adults.

I am, Sir, your most obedient servant,

JOHN MOLTHER.
